With our focus last week on our beloved dead and the political drama enveloping our nation, National

Vocations Awareness Week, November 1-7, slipped off our radar. This week is set aside by the U.S. Catholic Church to focus on the important vocations of the priesthood, the diaconate, and the consecrated life of both women and men. We are blessed to have been served by men religious, Jesuits and Franciscans, since the founding of the parish until September 1. Now the parish is led by diocesan priests. We are blessed to have a permanent deacon in the parish, Deacon Steve Andrews, and his wife, Lois. We are invited to encourage vocations to the priesthood, diaconate, and religious life as these vocations are vital to the health and vitality of the Church. While the week went by due to other priorities, I ask you to pray for vocations to the priesthood, diaconate, and religious life. One of the reasons the Franciscans withdrew from the parish is a lack of vocations. Many religious orders are facing the same challenges. We are in need of more young men to explore a vocation to the priesthood and for families to encourage their children to consider vocations to the priesthood and religious life. The number one reason a young person considers this type of vocation is because someone invited them to do so. It requires sacrifice, a generous heart, and a love for the Lord and His people. Those who have responded to the call and have served in this way tell us that it is a very rewarding life. I know this to be true because it is true for me.

Next Sunday, November 15, I will celebrate my 40th anniversary of ordination to the priesthood. It is hard to believe I have been sowing and plowing the Lord's field for four decades. The time has flown quickly and I have experienced more joys than I can recount. It has had its challenges, certainly a low point being the scandal of the sex abuse crisis, but I have no regrets serving the Lord and His people for 40 years. I have had experiences I could never have imagined on November 15, 1980 when I was ordained by Bishop Gossman in New Bern at Centenary Methodist Church, the church next door to my parish church (which only seated 200 people). Perhaps being ordained in a Methodist Church was a harbinger of things to come. Among the many adventures I have had and horizons I have been invited to pursue, the privilege of shepherding a parish in building a new church and middle school, earning a doctorate, teaching at a world-class university, and becoming an international expert on the RCIA stand out.

Because of COVID-19, I will not be celebrating a special Mass of Thanksgiving on my anniversary this year. Hopefully, I will be able to do something in November 2021. I am grateful for your prayers next Sunday and look forward to serving you as I begin my 41st year of service to the Lord and now the people of St. Francis of Assisi.

Calling All Cooks

Kathleen Owen, Director of Parish Life

As most of you already know, The Catholic Community of St. Francis of Assisi is a welcoming parish. It's also a very generous parish in so many ways. Several years ago, we started a new ministry, Feed the Need, which learns of parishioners who are going through significant life events like serious health issues, loss of a loved one, a new baby, or other situations. Families used to have to come pick up their cooked meals at the church, but now, with Caring Connections, we can serve those folks who are unable to come to church to pick up meals.

The glue that holds these two ministries together is Caring Casseroles. The Feed the Need ministry has a calendar with families listed on specific days. If a cook signs up to cook a specific meal for a specific family on a specific day, great! If not, then we rely on Caring Casseroles. A Caring Casserole may be a freezable casserole or freezable side dishes that we can pair with other cooked casseroles to make a home cooked meal for someone who has spent the day in the infusion chair, with a sick loved one in the hospital, or spent the night with a fussy newborn. Some homemade soup, a quiche, or some strawberries might make all the difference in helping someone remember that they are part of a community that cares about them and for them, in good times and bad.

So who can offer Caring Casseroles? EVERYBODY! Make a meal for your family and make some more or double the recipe to donate. It just needs to be freezable. You can drop off these casseroles, etc., in Cupertino Room in the Community Center, in the refrigerator on the left side of the room, from 9-12. Here's where you can check out all the details <https://www.stfrancisraleigh.org/caring-casserole/> or <https://www.stfrancisraleigh.org/ministries-2-2/feed-the-need-2/>

Now, a couple of points: in the month of October, we received 42 Caring Casseroles, but we had to use 57 Casseroles to fill the meals we agreed to offer. That means we're using our overflow meals faster than we're getting them. With the holidays coming up, we expect our cooks to be busier with their families and we will be more dependent on Caring Casseroles than ever, so we're hoping you can help us keep up with demand.

And finally, please consider signing up to be a Feed the Need cook or a Caring Casseroles cook. You cook when it's convenient for you. Through the website, you have access to family preferences and allergies. We also call each receiving family weekly and we share their prayer requests with our cooks. It really is one of the most satisfying ways to get your whole family involved – select the family you'll cook for, the recipe you'll make, do the shopping and the cooking and then pray for the family you're helping, and you will be prayed for by the families who receive your meals. And isn't that what we're all called to do?

No Caring Casseroles allowed on 11/11 and 11/12 due to a facilities issue.

SCAM ALERT

Scammers are at it again sending malicious emails to parishioners. You will NEVER get a solicitation email from our pastor or bishop asking for "a favor", or for emergency help in the form of money. Please do not open or click on them. Simply trash them. They could cause havoc on your computer and your pocket book.

JUSTICE AND PEACE MINISTRIES

November

Black Catholic History Month

by St. Francis parishioner Leon Cooke and Trevor Thompson, Director of Office of Justice and Peace.

In order to highlight the important place black Catholics have played in Catholicism, the Church has lifted up the month of November as BLACK CATHOLIC HISTORY MONTH.

The reason behind the selection of the month of November was the number of important dates to Catholics of African descent that fell within this month. For example, November 3rd is the memorial of St. Martin de Porres who was the first black saint of the Americas and November 13th is the birth of St. Augustine who was the first Doctor of the Church from North Africa.

It is also often forgotten that Christianity was originally a religious tradition that emerged from what we now call the Middle East and the Mediterranean, in country's whose racial and ethnic make-up were much more diverse than what we might think when considering the Church's history. The late Catholic monk and historian of Catholic African-American history, Fr. Cyprian Davis, O.S.B, said in an interview, "Remember, Ethiopia was a Christian nation earlier than many nations in Europe. It was a Christian kingdom before Ireland was evangelized, before more of North Germany was evangelized, and before Poland was a Catholic country."

In the world today, there are over 200 million people of African descent in the Roman Catholic Church throughout the world, and central Africa is where the most vigorous growth for the Catholic Church has been for years. In the US, the Catholic Church has about 3 million black Catholics, which is roughly 4% of our country's Catholic population; however, we have just 250 black priests, less than 1% of the total US clergy.

In the Diocese of Raleigh, it is important to know that we have an organization called African Ancestry Ministry and Evangelization (AAMEN) to create an atmosphere in which individuals of African Ancestry can maintain their identity, heighten their visibility, and enhance their lives as Catholics. Among the ways that AAMEN supports these efforts is by providing liturgical and pastoral support to several communities of African Catholics, including the Swahili, Igbo, and Franco-phone communities.

In celebration of Black Catholic History Month, AAMEN has also put together a brand new set of videos called "The Gift of Catholicism" featuring a collection of black Catholic leaders and designed to invite viewers into the mind and heart of our Catholic tradition. You can access to these videos by going to <https://dioceseofraleigh.org/news/gift-catholicism>

We will offer a couple more articles in the bulletin this month that speak about the legacy and beauty of this black Catholic diversity in the Church.

EDUCATION MINISTRIES

Find out More About TFS for the 2021-22 School Year

Mike Watson, Principal TFS

How can I Find out More About TFS for the 2021-22 school year?

Deciding where to send your child to school can be a difficult decision. With so many options and programs to choose from in the Raleigh area, making the right decision for your child can seem overwhelming. As you consider your options here are three reasons we think The Franciscan School could very well be the place for your child:

Small class size

Our class sizes for grades K-8 are intentionally small. We feel giving your child the opportunity for more one on one time with their teacher is a way to develop individual needs while still learning in a classroom environment. Experiential learning is a way our teachers embed the concepts being taught in the classroom. Teachers often find ways to explore how concepts and ideas are brought to life so children have real and tangible take-aways with each lesson.

Community and Service Values

In the spirit of the Franciscan mission, students are introduced early to the concept of community and service. Each day begins with Morning Prayer in the courtyard in which the entire school gathers to pray and give thanks for the day ahead. Each month students and staff participate in service projects that benefit those in the Raleigh and surrounding areas. Learn more about how our students make a difference.

Faith based education

Our students are nurtured in a prayerful environment with catholic traditions and Franciscan values. The school works closely with parents, their children's first teachers, to prepare each child with a foundation of faith and values that will serve them far beyond their time at the school.

The Franciscan School wants to partner with you to achieve the goals you have for your child and their educational experience. Join us for one of our upcoming virtual information sessions:

November 12, 7pm
December 8, 12pm
January 13, 9am
February 18, 7pm
March 16, 12pm

Our Principal Mike Watson will lead each of the sessions and faculty and parents will join the session as well to help answer any questions you may have about The Franciscan School.

More information can be found on our website at www.franciscanschool.org or contact Principal Mike Watson at michael.watson@stfrancisraleigh.org.

EDUCATION MINISTRIES

Heidi Hobler, Director St. Francis of Assisi Preschool

What is a Saint? and What do Saints do?

"In this life we cannot do great things. We can only do small things with great love." St. Teresa of Calcutta

As you recall, last Sunday we celebrated All Saints Day. This is an important day in our church. At preschool, we try every year to balance the kids' excitement for Halloween with this significant day. Given that the world around them is full of spooky decorations, lots of candy, and costume choices, it is not always easy to keep the scales balanced. As Catholic educators, we recognize, however, how crucial it is to teach our students about the saints.

Our teachers use creativity in combination with expertise to bring the saints "to life" for our preschoolers. They often utilize stories and art projects to begin and expand on their lessons. As I have written in previous articles, young children will learn and remember what they are taught better when they can relate to or have had experience with the new material. Because we always celebrate the feast of St. Francis with our preschoolers, this is often a good starting point. The children can pull from what they learned about St. Francis and add it to the new information. Learning about St. Joseph, Jesus' father, or St. Anne, His grandmother, are also good connections as most of our students have a family with at least one or the other. St. Nicholas is a favorite one to learn about at Christmas time. Many teachers add the stories of St. Valentine and St. Patrick as well. All of these well-known saints can provide a strong beginning idea for who a saint is and what they did to show how much they loved Jesus. Having images of these saints already in their imaginative repertoire helps our preschoolers better understand less familiar saints. What other saints can you discuss at home based on everyday life? I know that my two children learned early all about St. Anthony, the patron saint of lost things, because it was easy for their mother to lose things!

As many classes were focusing particularly on saints last week, I posed a few questions to some of our preschoolers. They were: What is a saint? and What do saints do? I enjoyed hearing their enthusiastic answers. Following are just a few: Thomas, one of our older 2-year olds: A saint is..."one of the statues that you see at church and Jesus is there." He clearly has been observant on his occasions to church! From one of our 3 year olds, Joey: "They pray." We know this is true! Evelyn, a 4-year old: They "help people & love people." A 5-year old, James said, "They bring messages from God." While I appreciated all of their thoughts and on-target answers, I think, Miles, another 4-year old, said it best: Saints are... "maybe us!" In Fr. Jairo's homily last week, he said that we are all called to be saints; we are all called to be holy people of God. We have a responsibility to emphasize with our children that they too can be a saint. One of the beautiful things about our Catholic preschool is that we are already setting our students on the path of learning how to be a saint. We do this in lots of ways including by teaching them to help and love people, by teaching them to pray, and by teaching them about church among other things.

The above quote from St. Teresa further reiterates that it's not necessarily what we do, but rather how we do it. I interpret her words to mean that even our youngest people can make a big difference by performing just small acts. Little things can help keep you on the path to following Jesus. Ms. Mili, one of our teachers, summed it up when she said that it is essential to teach our children about saints because they provide a role model for how we should really live our lives and stay close to Jesus. May we always remember in all that we think, do, and say that God loves us and wants us to share His love with others!

St Vincent de Paul

A mother of two who was furloughed from her job, was planning to go back to work. However, when she was just getting ready to return, she discovered she needed unexpected surgery. After a successful surgery, it was time to get ready to return to work. The only problem was finding enough money for the monthly rent payment. Reaching out to others for financial help was not a familiar task, but one that had to be done knowing that soon a paycheck would help to make life as normal as possible during a pandemic. Several agencies, including St. Vincent de Paul helped to pay her rent. We received an email thanking us for our help. It was the difference between having shelter or being homeless. When the time is right, she said she will be sure to help someone else in need. Much like the circle of love, the circle of help must not be broken. All work with our neighbors is done virtually. If interested in helping contact Cathy Smith at smithcr@gmail.com.

The Faith and Science Forum

This group meets every 1st and 3rd Wednesdays of the month from 1:00 to 2:30pm via Zoom to share information by discussing books, to ask questions, and to support one another in our mutual discovery and appreciation of our common home where Spirit illumines all things. Please

Contemplative Spirituality Solace of Fierce Landscapes

We continue to meet virtually every 2nd and 4th Wednesday from 1 to 2:30pm to dialogue on Solace of Fierce Landscapes by Belden C. Lane, where the author explores why so many in history were drawn to the hazardous terrain of deserts and mountains in search of Christian spirituality. Those reading the book have found it to be truly captivating due to its many unique insights into our Spirituality. If you have questions or are interested in joining the sessions contact Tracy Hurley at danandtracy@hotmail.com, 828-773-3152 or Deacon Steve at stephenwandrews@outlook.com, 732-213-0104.

Contemplative Spirituality Thomas Merton's Bridges Series

Did you know that when John Robert Lewis crossed the Edmund Pettus Bridge in 1965, he knew that he was going to be arrested and he had two books with him that he was going to read while he was in jail. One was his bible and the other was a book by Thomas Merton. Why would a 23 year old Baptist have a book to read written by the Catholic Monk? Experience Why. Join us virtually, on Fridays from 1 to 2:30pm. We will dialogue on book from Merton's Bridges to Contemplative Living Series. Contact Tracy Hurley at danandtracy@hotmail.com, 828-773-3152 or Deacon Steve at stephenwandrews@outlook.com, 732-213-0104.

Men's Prayer Breakfast – The ministry meets virtually every 1st and 3rd Mondays from 7 to 8 am. The meetings provide a way for men to come together in prayer and fellowship. Bringing Home the Word

Thirty-second Sunday in Ordinary Time (A)
November 8, 2020

Get Ready

By Fr. Mark Haydu, LC

As we near the end of the liturgical year and prepare for Advent, the readings get us ready for the Second Coming of Jesus by addressing our own final encounter with him. The Church summarizes the last realities each person must reflect on: death, judgment, heaven, and hell. In short, when we die, we will face personal judgment. If our response has been to return Jesus' love, the reward will be heaven. But if we reject Jesus, the result will be hell.

This should not be a source of anxiety or fear, but rather faith, serenity, and hopeful confidence. If we are not quite ready, now is the age of mercy, and God's grace abounds for those who seek it. It is a healthy thing to be prepared and wise. All of us know our final encounter with Jesus at the end of life is coming. It would be foolish to ignore it or not maturely reflect on its implications.

Oil is the natural resource mentioned in the Gospel because without the light and warmth that an oil lamp provided, the guests could get lost in the dark or need to abandon the wait because of the cold. As we journey through this life, awaiting the marriage feast of Jesus, our hearts can get dimmed and icy if we are not lit by the oil of love and the warmth of the Spirit. We don't know the day or the hour when Jesus will come take us into the eternal banquet, but we know for sure that day is coming.

The wise guest is the person fueled by the oil of love and ready for any eventuality. As the Boy Scout motto goes—Be Prepared. +

All of us know our final encounter with Jesus is coming. It would be foolish to ignore it.

Sunday Readings

Wisdom 6:12-16

Resplendent and unfading is Wisdom, and she is ... found by those who seek her

1 Thessalonians 4:13-18 or 4:13-14

If we believe that Jesus died and rose, so too will God, through Jesus, bring with him those who have fallen asleep.

Matthew 25:1-13

[Jesus said,] "Therefore, stay awake, for you know neither the day nor the hour."

A Word from Pope Francis

The study of the sacred Scriptures must be a door opened to every believer.... Evangelization demands familiarity with God's word, which calls for dioceses, parishes, and Catholic associations to provide for a serious, ongoing study of the Bible, while encouraging its prayerful individual and communal reading.

—Evangelii Gaudium, November 24, 2013

REFLECTION QUESTIONS

- Am I constantly in contact with the mercy of God so I am always ready?
- How am I living now so that I am always prepared for the final encounter with Jesus?

Translating the Message

By Johan van Parys

My nieces and nephews are great kids—intelligent and kind—and I'm proud to be their uncle. Still, I regret their lack of participation in the life of the Church. From what other parishioners tell me, this is happening all around, not just in my family. Why are we losing so many young people? Why doesn't the Gospel message get through to them?

This issue of the best way to communicate the Gospel can be traced back to the apostles. Think about our Church's beginning—the time of Pentecost. Outside the Upper Room, I imagine great festivity as people from many regions and nations gathered in Jerusalem. Inside the Upper Room, the apostles were hiding, burdened with fear and uncertainty. Then suddenly everything changed. Inspired by the Holy Spirit, the apostles overcame their fear and burst into the street. The sight of the apostles, on fire with the Spirit as they spoke about God's marvelous deeds, must have quieted the crowd. Miraculously, everyone was able to understand them despite ethnic differences and linguistic barriers.

*The apostles presented the Gospel truth
in different languages
through various channels.*

From Jerusalem, the apostles spread throughout the world proclaiming the Good News to every nation known to humankind. They succeeded because they presented the Gospel truth in different languages through various channels.

Successful missionary activity has always relied on the translation of the one and true message into the vernacular and familiar idioms of the people receiving the message. The failures of the seventeenth- and eighteenth-century mission attempts in China were attributed to the Church's refusal to allow a Chinese Catholic rite that would have included "baptismal" pre-Christian theological language and accommodated ancestor worship, which was very dear to them. On the flip side, the success of the Church's mission in Central Africa has been ascribed to the introduction of a Congolese rite that considers the ethos of Central Africa and allows typical African modes of celebration.

As we preach the Gospel in our current, ever-changing reality, we can do one of two things: turn inward and hide in a romanticized understanding of our perceived glorious past, or find new ways to preach the Gospel. The first option might prove disastrous as the Church continues to crumble. The second, though not easy, offers hope—and the promise of a Church ever new and true.

Let us listen carefully to the spiritual needs of our people, learn to understand and speak their languages, and use their idioms wisely to spread the Good News. Let us pray for the knowledge and courage to do what needs to be done.

Finally, let us pray for the safe return of loved ones whose journeys have led them away from our Church. +

Lord, I am grateful for the gift of the Holy Spirit. Help me to keep awake to the movement of your Spirit in my life.

—From *Grateful Meditations for Every Day
in Ordinary Time*, Rev. Warren J. Savage and Mary Ann McSweeney
